Plymouth Rock. Plymouth rock has become an object of veneration in the United States because of its interesting historica, associations. As is well known, it is the rock or ledge on which the pfigrims are believed to have landed when they first stepped from their boats in the harbor of what is now Plymouth, Mass. In 1775 part of the rock was removed to the vicinity of Pilgrim hall, but was afterward restored to its original site and is now under the stone canopy that surmounts the main rock on Water street. Charles Sumner said, "From the deck of the Mayflower, from the landing at Plymouth rock, to the senate of the United States is a mighty contrast, covering whole spaces of history hardly less than from the Really to be a hypocrite must require a horrible strength of character. An ordinary man such as you or I generally fails at last because he has not enough energy to be a man. But the hypocrite must have enough energy to be two men. It is said that a ilar should have a good memory. But a hypocrite must have not only a good memory of the past, but a consistent and creative vision of the future; his unreal self must be so far real to him. The perfect hypocrite should be a trinity of artistic talent. He must be a novelist like Dickens to create a false character. He must be an actor like Garrick to act it. And he must be a business man like Carnegie to profit by it. Such a genius would not be easy to find in any country .-- G. K. Chesterton.

A Story of Gambetta. It is told of Gambetta that once. when in the herday of his power. when he went to some agricultural department to oust a reactionary candidate in favor of one of his friends, he inquired about the agriculturists' wants. "We are sadly in need of rain," came the answer. "I'll see about it when I get to Paris," promised Gambetta. And his listeners believed in his promise. The record runs that the rain came down in torrents a day or two after and that when the reactionary candidate presented himself he was hooted at. "Let your party do as much for us as Gambetta, and we'll elect you." they said.

HANDICAPPED. This Is the Case With Many Tallahasses People.

Too many Tallahassee citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or litting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and linaments may give relief but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Can you doubt Tallahassee evidence?

Mr. Fiatauer, 218 Monroe St., Talla-hassee, Fla., says: "I believe that the stooping required in my work weakened my kidneys. There was a constant OFFICE PHONE 44. my head ached the greater part of the time. The passage of the kidney secretions were very irregular and it was a common thing for me to get up several times during the night. A friend who had been cured of similar troubles by Doan's Kidney Pills, advised me to try them, and I procured a box at the Har-dee-Smith Co.'s Drug Store. I am now glad that I did so, as they lived up to representations and gave me prompt relief."

in factories where needles are made the grindstones throw off great quantities of minute steel particles, with which the air becomes heavily charged, although the dust is too fine to be perceptible to the eye. Breathing the dust shows no immediate effect, but gradually sets up irritation, usually ending in pulmonary consumption. ineffective attempts were made to screen the air by gause or linen guards for noce and mouth. At last the use of the magnet was suggested, and now masks of magnetized steel wire are worn by workmen and effectually remove the metal dust before the air is breathed .- London Graphic.

Not Entertaining. A vender of fresh shrimps had had a very unexciting day. Money was scarce. Eventually in a dreary street a woman atood abouting at the door. Hurrying up, he asked eagerly, "A per'orth, mum?"

"No," she replied charply; "a hap'orth. D'ye think we've got company?" -London Scraps.

Bows on Men's Hate. Why is it that a man's hat has a band, and why is it this band has a bow invariably on the left side?

The answer is that there was a time when a piece of cloth adjusted to the head and tied with a band of other material served for a headpiece. The reason the bow was always placed on the left side had its origin in the fact that in wielding a sword-an accomplishment possessed by nearly every one of consequence at one period of the world's history-the bow or rosette if pinced on the right side would have been in the way. Its present day utility is that it keeps most men from wearing their hats hind side before, and, although with most hats that would not matter, with most heads it does .- Chicago Record-Herald.

On the Moon.

The question "Could a man live on the moon?" has been put to an eminent astronomer, who replied: "I am afraid not. A man transplanted to the moon would find himself the lone inhabitant of a perfectly lifeless orb in which eternal stience reigns. He would have to manage without air. water or fire. He would not need to put windows in his house, for there is no wind, no rain, no dust, upon the moon. It has been truly and practically observed that the moon is apparently abandoned to death, nourishing no inhabitants, producing nothing resembling trees, flowers or beautiful things of any kind-useless, in short, except as a mass of extinct volcanic rubbish. which drags the sea into tides and reflects the sunbeams in moonlight."

The Dean's Retort. One Sunday morning at Caunton church Dean Hole noticed a tipsy man in the congregation. He bore his presence until it was no longer possible and then came to a halt with the question, "Are you fit to remain in God's house?" The man got up unsteadily and was helped to the door. "James," said Hole after the service was over, "what did you do with

Knew It Was a Canal.

Some of these youngsters who are studying physiology have as hard a time as their parents aguring out the terms used in that profoundly interesting subject. One little girl, according to her mentor, was asked the other day to name the three openings intothe throat. For the benefit of the gentle reader who may not have studied his physiology recently it may be stated that the openings are the epiglottis, the esophagus and the alimentary ca-

The little girl had tried awfully hard to remember those names because she had a hunch that the teacher would ask her to give them. She started

"The epiglottis," she began and hesttated.

"Right you are," encouraged the teacher. "What theu?" "The-um-ah-sercophagus?" she inquired a little dubiously. "You mean esophagus, my dear," suggested the teacher. "And the third?"

"The Erie canal!" announced the littie girl confidently and triumphantly.--Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Bucket Shop.

"Bucket shops"-a name new used to denote small "outside" stockbrokers or financiers not in membership with the Stock Exchange-were so called because when they first started in Chicago the only commodity dealt in by small speculators to any extent was wheat, The legitimate dealers would not handle au order for less than 5,000 bushels, and then a lot of places sprung up where men of limited capital could speculate with very small sums, and these men were spoken of contemptuously as buying and selling wheat by the bucketful; hence shops where a small business was conducted in grain on a margin came to be known as bucket shops. The term was finally extended to cover all brokerage offices where small lots of either grain or stock were bought and sold, and it was applied particularly to those places where both seller and buyer did not more than "gamble" on the rise and fall of stocks.

As Expanded.

A diminutive specimen of juvenile femininity yclept Miss Muffet had placed hereelf in a sitting posture upon an article of household furniture ordinarily termed an ottoman or hassock, ministering to the gratification of her gustatory organs by ingurgitating the congulated portion of bovine incteal fluid mingled with the watery serum of the same which remains after the congulated portion has been segregated and withdrawn.

Happening to glance downward, sha observed that a specimen of the genus araneida, class arachuida, romarkable for its ability to produce flaments of extraordinary tenuity from its own interior, had taken a position upon the ottoman or haseock in immediate progimity to her.

Which totally unexpected incident aroused her apprehension to such an extent that she immediately, not to and precipitately, arose from her allti posture and departed from the localty, leaving the introder in neglic puted possession of the americant
